Dear Mr. Newman,

Reference is made to our telephone conversation on or about February 26, 1969. I am now settled in the Washington, D.C., area and below you will find my new address. During this conversation I mentioned my personal attempt to purchase representative unusual U.S. currency to use in public education as well as to satisfy my own interest. You mentioned at this time that you would make up a "package" of such currency for which you would accept face value payment. Your convenience in receipt of payment and in forwarding this currency to me is of prime importance to me.

During the above mentioned conversation you said that you anticipated entering the hospital for an operation. I trust that operation went well and you are well on the way to total recovery.

Thank you very much for your assistance in this matter and I wish you the best of health.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Allen:

The delay in sending you some United States currency, at face value, was due to my operation, which has been completed. I am now strong enough to attend to the things I like to do. Accordingly, I am enclosing:

$1 United States note - 1862 series

$1 Silver Certificate - 1891 series

$5 United States note - 1907 series

$5, $10 and $20 Federal Reserve note -
1914 series.

The total face value is $42.00.

It is a pleasure to furnish these to you because of your interest in them.

In the course of my experience many people have made items available to me and I am pleased to continue that tradition.

Kindest regards.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Newman,

I received your letter and the currency that you forwarded to me. I found it most interesting and have already displayed it to a number of people who appreciate the history of U.S. currency. Thank you very much for your consideration in forwarding these to me.

Enclosed you will find a check in the amount of $42.00 which seems a very small amount for the pleasure I will derive in owning this currency and displaying it to others.

P.S.

I was pleased at your recovery from the operation.

Sincerely yours,

Arthur H. Allen

Dear Mr. Allen:

I located an 1880 series $20 United States note No. A2029665A and thought you would enjoy it, also.

If your check book can stand another $20
outlay, the bill will be yours.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Allen:

We have received some additional information with respect to the Parson's bar matter and it is being added to prior data. This happens to involve an alleged member of the Mafia.

So far no one has even contacted us since you left St. Louis and if you can stimulate the matter it would be helpful.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Newman,

I received the 1880 series $20 United States Note and like the other currency you forwarded to me find it very interesting. Thank you again for the opportunity of obtaining these at face value. The pleasure I receive from having them extends far beyond the face value.

Sincerely yours,

P.S. Enclosed you will find a check in the amount of $20.
